

Jorge A. Beloqui, 65.
HIV positive for 26 years.
He gave his blood for this poster.

I AM AN HIV POSITIVE POSTER.

My measurements are 40 x 60 centimeters.
I was printed on high brightness paper and my weight is 250 grams.
I'm just like any other poster.
Except for one thing: I'm HIV positive.

It's exactly what you've just read.
I'm living with the virus.
I carry an actual HIV positive drop of blood.
At this point, you may be taking a step back wondering if I offer any danger. My answer is: no way.

HIV can't survive outside the human body for more than one hour.
Therefore, the blood that I carry is harmless.
Just as live with someone who is HIV positive.

You contract HIV by having unprotected sex,
sharing needles and syringes with infected blood.

Yes, you can live with me without any problem.
I can play my role in society perfectly.
And I dare say that if I hadn't revealed that
I have the virus you wouldn't have noticed.

Because being HIV positive does not determine who you are.
Whether you are a poster or a human being.

IF PREJUDICE IS AN ILLNESS, INFORMATION IS THE CURE.
